

Resistant Data Practices: Data Projects for Trans* and Disabled Lives

#AbleismusTötet

"#AbleismKills is a journalistic research project on violence enacted against disabled people" (translated by MELT)

This project documents instances of violence in German care facilities.

<https://ableismus.de>

Bearing Witness, Demanding Freedom

The Judge Rotenberg Center Living Archive by Lydia X. Z. Brown documents electric shock and other abusive treatments enacted at the JRC.

<https://autistichoya.net/judge-rotenberg-center>

Disability Memorial

"Remembering people with disabilities murdered by their families"

This project indexes victims of filicide to remember them on the Disability Day of Mourning.

<https://disability-memorial.org>

Feminist Data Manifest-No

"The Manifest-No is a declaration of refusal and commitment. It refuses harmful data regimes and commits to new data futures."

<https://www.manifestno.com>

Data for Black Lives

"Data for Black Lives is a movement of activists, organizers, and scientists committed to the mission of using data to create concrete and measurable change in the lives of Black people."

<https://d4bl.org>

CARE Principles for Indigenous Data Governance

"The CARE Principles for Indigenous Data Governance are people and purpose-oriented, reflecting the crucial role of data in advancing Indigenous innovation and self-determination."

<https://www.gida-global.org/care>

Unheilbar queer?

a data research project on the experiences with conversion therapies of lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans*, inter*, queer, nonbinary, aromantic, asexual people and everyone who is part of queer communities.

<https://www.befragung-unheilbar-queer.de>

Digital Transgender Archive

“The purpose of the Digital Transgender Archive (DTA) is to increase the accessibility of transgender history by providing an online hub for digitized historical materials, born-digital materials, and information on archival holdings [...]”

<https://www.digitaltransgenderarchive.net>

Wheelmap

A data set on wheelchair accessibility developed by Sozialheld*innen Berlin who created “the world’s largest free online map for accessible places”

<https://wheelmap.org>

Queering the map

“Queering the Map is a community generated counter-mapping platform for digitally archiving LGBTQ2IA+ experience in relation to physical space.”

<https://www.queeringthemap.com>

El Archivo Memoria Trans México

“The Trans México Memory Archive is a grain of sand in the reconstruction of our history, made up of the visual memories of women who are over fifty years old today.” (translated by MELT)

<https://www.memoriatrans.mx>

Disability at Home

“This website documents the ingenuity and creativity that caregivers and disabled people, including those with chronic illnesses, use every day to make home accessible.”

<https://www.disabilityathome.org/>

Cloudspotting Archive

An arts project by Raquel Meseguer Zafe that gathers stories about “people’s attempts to rest in public”

<https://www.cloudspotting.live/archive>

Remote Access Archive

“Remote access is when you can learn, work, socialize, and organize with other people when you are in different places”

This project by the Critical Design Lab seeks contributions.

<https://www.mapping-access.com/the-remote-access-archive>

Stolpersteine

A distributed data set consisting of stumbling stones reminding of the last chosen homes of people persecuted by Nazis during the Third Reich.

<https://www.stolpersteine-berlin.de>

Forced Sterilization of Disabled People in the United States

“Most states allow forced sterilization today. Laws allowing forced sterilization exist in 31 states plus Washington, D.C.”

<https://nwlc.org/resource/forced-sterilization-of-disabled-people-in-the-united-states/>

Gedenkort-T4.eu

The project collects and makes available the biographies of some of the 300000 disabled people murdered in Germany and occupied Europe during the Third Reich.

<https://www.gedenkort-t4.eu/de/biografien>

Trans Formations Project

“[...] we maintain a database of all anti-trans legislation that has been introduced since 2021, when our organization was founded, in all 50 states and nationally. We also maintain a database of contact information for all representatives both at the national and state level, as well as their voting records on anti-trans legislation both in committee and on the floor.”

<https://www.transformationsproject.org>